Best Practice Lighting (BPL)

BPL has recently completed an upgrade of our corridor lamps and fittings (1700 of) over 23 hotel floors. Despite using 1/3rd of the power of the previous lamps, they have more than delivered the required performance and within specification. This was a sizeable project and it was important that it was conducted in a professional and efficient manner – BPL delivered on both fronts

BPL is a relatively new supplier to the Grand Hyatt, but has already proved to be able to deliver the required solutions in a prompt and efficient manner and at competitive rates. These solutions have been class leading in terms of efficiency in our conversion to LED where others struggled to come close. BPL has also been able to supply all our traditional lighting requirements.

Andrew Gowan, the proprietor of BPL has also demonstrated a keen eye for not only technical detail, but also the importance in delivering new LED products in accordance with delivering the ambience so valued in our luxury hotel.

I would have no hesitation in recommending Best Practice Lighting as a preferred supplier to any business, as we continue to partner with them on our next lighting project.
